

Customer Relationship Summary Form CRS

Is An Investment Advisory Account Right For You? This document gives you a summary of the types of services we provide and how you pay.

Dupree Financial Group, LLC is a Registered Investment Advisor located at 237 East Main Street, Lexington, Kentucky 40507. The firm is owned by Thomas P. Dupree, Jr. We are an investment adviser and provide advisory accounts and services, not brokerage accounts and services.

Relationships and Services.

- If you open an advisory account, you will pay an ongoing asset-based fee at the beginning of each quarter for our services, based on the value of the cash and investments in your advisory account.
- We will offer you advice on a regular basis. We will discuss your investment goals, design a strategy with you to achieve them, and regularly monitor your account. We will contact you (by phone or email) to arrange at least one meeting annually to discuss your goals and portfolio.
- Accounts with us are handled on a discretionary basis, where we buy and sell investments in your account without asking your permission in advance.
- Our investment advice will cover a limited selection of investments that the firm has deemed, in their sole discretion, to be suitable for your portfolio. Other firms could provide advice on a wider range of options, some of which might be lower in cost.

Our Obligations to You. We must abide by certain laws and regulations in our interactions with you.

- We are held to a fiduciary standard that covers our entire investment advisory relationship with you. For example, we are required to monitor your portfolio, investment strategy, and investments on an ongoing basis.
- If our interests can conflict with your interests, we must eliminate these conflicts or tell you about them in a way you can understand, so that you can decide whether to agree to them or not.

Fees and Costs. Fees and costs affect the value of your account over time. Please ask your financial professional to give you personalized information on the fees and costs that you will pay.

- The amount paid to our firm does not vary based on the type of investments we select on your behalf. The asset-based fee reduces the value of your account and is deducted quarterly.
- Some investments (such as mutual funds, limited liability companies or partnerships) impose additional fees that will reduce the value of your investment over time.
- Our fees vary and are negotiable. The amount you pay will depend, for example, on the amount of assets in your account.
- You may pay a transaction fee when we buy or sell an investment for you. You will not be paying custodian fees to a broker-dealer.
- The higher the value of assets you have in the advisory account(s), including cash, the more you will pay us. We therefore have an incentive to increase the assets in your account to increase our fees. You pay our fee quarterly even if we do not place trades in the account(s).

Compare with Typical Brokerage Accounts.

- You could also open a brokerage account with a broker-dealer, where you will pay a transaction-based fee, generally referred to as a commission, when the broker-dealer buys or sells an investment for you. Features of a typical brokerage account include:
- With a broker-dealer, you may select investments or the broker-dealer may recommend investments for your account, but the ultimate decision for your investment strategy and the purchase and sale of investments will be yours.

- A broker-dealer must act in your best interest and not place its interests ahead of yours when the broker-dealer recommends an investment or an investment strategy involving securities. When a broker-dealer provides any service to you, the broker-dealer must treat you fairly and comply with a number of specific obligations. Unless you and the broker-dealer agree otherwise, the broker-dealer is not required to monitor your portfolio or investments on an ongoing basis.
- If you were to pay a transaction-based fee in a brokerage account, the more trades in your account, the more fees the broker-dealer charges you. They have an incentive to encourage you to trade often.
- You can receive advice in either type of account, but you may prefer paying:
 - a transaction-based fee from a cost perspective, if you do not trade often or if you plan to buy and hold investments for longer periods of time.
 - an asset-based fee if you want continuing advice or want someone to make investment decisions for you, even though it may cost more than a transaction-based fee.

Conflicts of Interest. We benefit from the advisory services we provide to you.

- We do not accept any extra money by advising you to invest in certain investments, such as commissions. We also do not manage or sponsor any investments that earn revenue.
- The only revenue we accept is the quarterly management fee.

Key Questions to Ask. Ask our financial professionals these key questions about our investment services and accounts.

- Given my financial situation, why should I choose an advisory account?
- Do the math for me. How much would I pay per year for an advisory account? What would make those fees more or less? What services will I receive for those fees?
- What additional costs should I expect in connection with my account?
- Tell me how you and your firm make money in connection with my account. Do you or your firm receive any payments from anyone besides me in connection with my investments?
- What are the most common conflicts of interest in your advisory accounts? Explain how you will address those conflicts when providing services to my account.
- How will you choose investments to recommend for my account?
- How often will you monitor my account's performance and offer investment advice?
- Do you or your firm have a disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? Please explain what the abbreviations in your licenses are and what they mean.
- Who is the primary contact person for my account? What can you tell me about his or her legal obligations to me? If I have concerns about how this person is treating me who can I talk to?
